

Letter of Recommendation

August 15, 2022

To Whom This May Concern,

Jasdeep did a summer internship with Seller Chain Inc. and exceeded any expectations I had before hiring him.

He is very professional and highly intelligent. He has the ability to leverage his skills, work well in a team and deliver the best solution given the strictest constraints.

I hired him to develop in a .NET core and Angular environment, and he delivered beyond my expectations, resulting in him becoming a core member of the team in the first few days. I personally admire his work ethics and adaptability.

In critical situations, he tactfully chooses his approach to the problem and puts across the facts, his views and his opinions credibly. He is highly dedicated and will make sure the deadlines are met and projects are completed to everyone's satisfaction. He constantly learns new things and develops himself. He is conscientious, diligent and the work he did enabled his coworkers to implement new features in an efficient and elegant manner.

It is very impressive what Jas was able to accomplish so far in his career and I have no doubt that there is more to come.

It was a pleasure working with him and I can whole heartedly recommend him as a key asset to any organization.
